Authorization for a beneficial use site, site transfer requirements and site amendment requirements for class B biosolids.

[Comment: Definitions relevant to this chapter can be found in rule 3745-40-01 of the Administrative Code.]

(A) Authorization for a beneficial use site. Prior to the beneficial use of class B biosolids, a permittee shall obtain from the director or an authorized representative an authorization to beneficially use biosolids for the site to which the beneficial use of biosolids is to occur. An application for an authorization for a beneficial use site shall:

(1) Be on forms prepared by the director; and

(2) Be valid only for those conditions stated in the specific site authorization.

(B) Authorization for a beneficial use site transfer. Any permittee who wants to transfer a site from one wastewater treatment works to another shall request in writing on forms approved by the director and obtain authorization from the director or an authorized representative, prior to transferring the site.

(C) Authorization for amending a beneficial use site. Authorization to amend the acreage for a currently authorized beneficial use site shall:

(1) Be obtained from the director prior to amending the acreage of any authorized beneficial use site; and

(2) Be made on forms approved by the director.
