Contracting Opportunities for Minority and Small Disadvantaged Businesses

The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency (Ohio EPA) is a state agency that enforces state and federal environmental laws.

Employees throughout Ohio EPA perform a wide variety of tasks, including reviewing permit applications; writing and issuing permits; conducting field sampling and site monitoring; educating businesses and citizens; and cleaning up contaminated sites.

The Agency uses many outside vendors to assist with these and other administrative tasks.

Does Ohio EPA use minority vendors for all its service needs?

Most of Ohio EPA's large expenditures must be authorized by the Ohio Department of Administrative Services (DAS), who handles major contracts for Ohio's state agencies.

DAS works with Minority Business Enterprises to locate and authorize vendors that meet each need. Ohio EPA is required to use those vendors. However, there are many services that Ohio EPA may contract on its own, without authorization from DAS.

How can I do business with Ohio EPA?

The Agency has a decentralized structure, so purchasing decisions are made individually by each division or office. Contacts for each division and office are listed on the table to the right.
